

This sequence diagram depicts our Pet Friends map view use case which starts when a user clicks on the map button and it works by getting the users current location with our locationController, a list of all pet store locations from our location database, getting the default Apple MapKit map, combining them, and then displaying them to the user through our app.